Today in Focus

Dear espresso friends,

We carry over 400 machines, grinders and accessories. That's great when you know exactly what you're looking for — and confusing when you don't.

That's why we launched heute-im-fokus ("today in focus"): a short video every day about a single machine from our range. What it does, who it suits, what it costs.

A video doesn't replace advice — but it beats a catalogue

We'll be honest: two minutes aren't enough to answer every question about an espresso machine. That's why the video is never the end of the story. Every machine we feature links to its own info page with a full spec sheet, photos and technical details.

If questions remain after that: call us or write to us. The video is the start of the conversation, not the end of it.

"Honestly presented beats heavily advertised."

It's not about one video. It's about video plus spec sheet.

Every heute-im-fokus episode gives you:

- A quick introduction — what makes the machine special, in about two minutes
- A full spec sheet — technical details, dimensions, accessories, price
- An honest assessment — who it suits, who it doesn't
- YouTube, Bluesky, Instagram — watch wherever you like

Over 400 products, one episode at a time.

No paid placement

We only feature machines we carry and know ourselves — no outside advertising, no sponsored placements. Every episode is as honest as our advice on the phone.
